TEACHING EXPERIENCE

Graduate Teaching Assistant, STA 198L: Introduction to Global Health Data Science

Duke University, Durham, NC

Jul 2026 – Present

- Serve as Graduate TA under Dr. Amy Herring for a first-year undergraduate course in global health data science.
- Lead coding lab sections, guiding students through hands-on statistical computing exercises in R.
- Mentor undergraduate students in statistical computing with R, data visualization, reproducible research, and foundational statistical concepts.
- Support course instruction, grading, and collaborative data science projects, including preparation of the Collab-CXR teaching dataset.

Head Undergraduate Teaching Assistant, IDST 89: Way of Medicine

UNC–Chapel Hill

Aug 2024 – May 2026

- Support Dr. John Thorp Jr. in teaching a seminar on ethical and philosophical issues in modern medical practice.
- Manage Canvas LMS, grade assignments, and co-lead seminar discussions.
- Facilitate structured debates on ethical dilemmas in medicine and public health.
- Participate in interviewing and recommending TA candidates.

RESEARCH EXPERIENCE

Research Assistant, Global Women's Health

UNC School of Medicine, Chapel Hill, NC

Jul 2025 – Jul 2026

- Supported global maternal and perinatal health research at the intersection of biostatistics, machine learning, and medical imaging.
- Conducted systematic screening of 1300+ articles across PubMed, Embase, and SCOPUS on gestational age and date of delivery (FAMLI Study).
- Developed comprehensive dataset documentation—including data dictionaries, codebooks, and variable maps—for 1,100+ variables and 12,000+ participant encounters in the LABOR Study.
- Prepared materials enabling future statistical modeling, reproducibility, and ML pipeline integration for global maternal health applications.

Research Technician, Commins Lab

UNC School of Medicine, Chapel Hill, NC

Feb 2023 – Aug 2023

- Coordinated outreach for a follow-up clinical study by scheduling participants for blood draws and surveys.
- Collected and transported biological samples across UNC-affiliated clinics in accordance with regulatory protocols.
- Co-authored a chapter in the Encyclopedia of Food Allergy on non-IgE-mediated and rare IgE-mediated immunologic conditions.
- Conducted literature reviews on food intolerances, mast cell disorders, and immunologic mechanisms.
